

ADA EBD Conference: Seats filling quickly, apply today!

Posted: 12/29/2011

For the fifth consecutive year, the ADA will host the Evidence-Based Dentistry Champions Conference to provide introductory training in the practice to a select group of dentists. Tuition is free for participants who earn 11 to 14 hours of continuing education credit.

The 2012 Evidence-Based Dentistry Champions Conference will take place March 8-10 at ADA headquarters in Chicago. The deadline to apply is Jan. 27, and early application is critical to get a seat as space is limited to just 100 participants.

"The EBD Champions Conference is a great educational opportunity and can really help participants improve the way they practice," said Dr. Brian Kennedy, past conference attendee and former chair of the Council on Dental Education and Licensure. "I encourage interested dentists to apply soon since past conferences have filled up quickly."

For information and to apply, visit ADA.org/ebdconference.